

Safety Creed

“It is impossible to accurately measure the results of following safety procedures and wearing your personal protective equipment. No one can count the injuries that never happened, the near-misses gone unreported, nor can anyone evaluate the lives that have been saved or plumb the depths of human misery that was spared. But the worker who chooses safety can find satisfaction that they worked wisely and well and that safety has been their first concern.”